Conflicting Reports Are Heard on Overthrow of Leadership in Nigeria

SAMUEL I. AKINTOLA SURDAR AHMADO BELLO were named in an unconfirmed report as having been killed as the army took over power in Nigeria. Akintola was prime minister of west Nigeria and Bello was prime minister of north Nigeria. (AP wirephoto)

Democracy Gets Blow In Nigeria Upheaval

WASHINGTON (AP)—U.S. sources viewed Nigeria's upheaval Saturday as a setback to stable, democratic progress in one of the most important new nations of Africa although they saw no anti-American significance in the coup. What changes, if any, may have to be made in the American aid program — the largest to any African country — remained clouded amid still-flickering reports of an army coup of Prime Minister Abubakar Tafawa Balewa.

Ezra Benson Lauds Work Of Birchers

BOISE (AP)—Ezra "Tall Benson," an Apostle of the LDS Church, said Saturday the John Birch Society—"the most effective non-church group in the United States in the fight against galloping socialism and Godless Communism."

Benson, director of the LDS Church's American Mission, was in Boise to address a quarterly conference of the Boise North Stake.

"This is a fine group," Benson told a newsman. "I know their leaders. I have attended two of their all-day council meetings. I have read their program. I feel I know their program."

Benson spent two years in Europe in charge of the mission there. He returned to Salt Lake City last October where he now lives.

Commenting on the Viet Nam war, Benson said "There just is no satisfactory substitute for victory."

"I hate to think we are fighting a no-win war. It is impossible for me to think we can't win and clean up the situation down there," he added.

Benson said he was shocked by people being so complacent about the situation.

President David O. McKay, he said, "has said they don't understand why the people don't become alerted and informed by regarding the Communist conspiracy."

Day Is Quiet

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson put in a quiet day Saturday, holding staff conferences, working on some forthcoming messages to Congress and reading some overseas reports.

Joseph L. Sullivan, assistant press secretary, said John and Jacqueline Kennedy were in the White House on Saturday.

George Bundy, special assistant to the president, said he received a number of cables from leaders of foreign governments.

Sawtooth Report Expected in Few Days

WASHINGTON (AP)—The long-awaited Sawtooth Mountain study will be made public within a few days, Sen. Frank Church said Saturday.

Church said the study is expected to contain two alternative proposals for the management of the Sawtooth area.

As he earlier announced to the Times-News, the report would include one plan to establish a national park and an alternative plan to establish a national recreation area.

Church said in spite of his initial advocacy of a Sawtooth National Park, "The National Park Service, the National Forest Service, the Bureau of Land Management, accelerated tax base for the local government."

Rusk Encouraged After Talks With Viet Nam Leaders

SAIGON (AP)—Secretary of State Dean Rusk said Sunday he returns to the United States from his talks with South Vietnamese leaders encouraged by the situation there. At an airport press conference, the secretary said it should be quite clear that the United States and South Viet Nam were working in the closest harmony to bring peace and tranquility to this country. The secretary was referring to a joint communique issued following two sessions between Rusk and top South Vietnamese leaders Saturday.

Rusk said: "I go back encouraged and will be glad to have the chance to tell the President my evaluation of the situation here."

Besides Rusk, U.S. officials present at Saturday's talks were moving ambassador W. Averell Harriman and U.S. Ambassador to Saigon, James H. Dorn.

Increased Mail Service Is Approved

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson approved Saturday a proposal by Postmaster General Lawrence F. O'Brien to restore six days-a-week parcel post delivery service and to increase hours of window service in the nation's post offices.

The improved service will go into effect as soon as Congress provides the necessary funds. The cost was estimated by the White House at $15 million a year.

In approving O'Brien's recommendation, Johnson told him the finest mail service in the world is provided by the U.S. Postal Service.

Showdown Nears in States Rights Issue

WASHINGTON (AP)—A major battle in the historic conflict between federal authority and states' rights reaches a showdown in the U.S. Supreme Court next week. Immediately at issue is the constitutionality of the 1965 Voting Rights Act, which abolished literacy and other voter qualification tests in seven states of the Deep South. But the underlying controversy in the case styled "South Carolina v. Katzenbach" is far deeper.

Filer Girl Wins Miss ISU Title

POCATELLO (AP)—Cheryl Lee Isgrig, 19, Filer, a brown-eyed brunette who stands five feet, six inches, won the Miss Idaho State University title in the second annual pageant here Saturday night.

A daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Isgrig, she will represent the state in the Miss America contest in Atlantic City, N.J., on Jan. 21.

First runner-up was Linda Reynolds, 19, and second runner-up was Annette Hanks, 18, both of Pocatello. Miss Congeniality choice of the contest was Colleen Taylor, 18, of Blackfoot.

Cost of War Estimated at 10 Billion

WASHINGTON (AP)—White House officials said Saturday special costs of the Viet Nam war will be estimated at $10.5 billion — more than double the current year's level — in the new federal budget.

These sources decline to say whether the sharply boosted spending prediction was based on any expectation of a new escalation in the fighting.

Five Columbia Basin States Set Meet To Defend Water Against Southwest

BOISE (AP)—Northwest defences in the face of reports that the Southwest is about to take its bid for water sharing to Congress may be prepared at a meeting here Monday of officials from five Columbia Basin states.

Southwestern states are reportedly ready to introduce a water sharing plan in Congress and are accordingly pressing for a "united front" either to prevent diversion of their water — or to give the Northwest but what it can't use.

Kindergarten Idea Rejected By Trustees

EDEN-HAZELTON — A proposal for a government supported kindergarten was rejected by the Board of Trustees of the Valley School District No. 252.

Dr. Thomas Utterback, superintendent, and Harry Kurtz, principal of the Eden and Hazelton elementary schools, discussed a survey which had been made among the elementary teachers in regard to the feasibility of applying for such a project.

"Operation Head Start," is primarily a program for children from low-income families. The criteria for the number of eligible children is to be determined on a family income basis set up by the federal government.

Objections to the program expressed by the two administrators were mainly that there is too much governmental control as to standards, testing and record-keeping, and that in the particular educational community there would not be enough students qualified for the program.

Only about 20 to 25 per cent of the students not classified in the low-income bracket would be permitted to attend.

"Another objection was there would be an inequality of educational opportunity among the students as they entered the first grade.

Dr. Utterback also discussed the approval of Title I of the Elementary and Secondary Act by the State Department of Education and the money available from such approval.

The superintendent was authorized to attend an administrators meeting Jan. 21 and 22 in Boise.

LAKE CHARLES, La.—Those union leaders who ordered the New York transportation strike last week are going to know that they do not have the support or approval of the rank and file of union leaders in at least some parts of the country.

Since this city has been known to be free, for its size, been in contact with friends and relatives in the New York area, who, although they are not connected with the strike directly, need financial help because they are out of work.

This is relatively a small city but you might be surprised to know how much money has gone from here to help out those in the New York area who could not get to work. When you live under today's hand-to-mouth economy even the loss of a week's wages can become a calamity.

So what do the local union labor readers suggest?

two or three most highly organized labor cities in the land, perhaps its reaction to the New York transit strike carries some importance.

There are several reasons for the reaction, but the chief one seems to be that the strike is hurting union labor's own peoa college-educated man who has long been active in local unions.

"The first principle is that you don't devour one another. You don't pull a strike for the benefit of one or two men when it will throw hundreds of other men and women out of work."
That is what appears to have happened in this case.

Said one local labor leader: "A handful" of men have thrown hundreds of thousands of men and women out of work, because they couldn't get to their jobs. Sure, it hurts the companies some, but most of the companies, at least the big ones, can stand the cost. They will make it back later.

"But a great many of the workers will lose their wages because they can't get to the work," says another worker connected with the strike. And when that happens their families go hungry."

Two things should be pointed out here:

One is that local union leaders seem to be in favor of the principle behind the strike. They say that the New York transit workers "deserve what they want just that they don't think they should get it at the expense of so many fellow workers."

The second thing we have heard the idea as to what could be done if the strikers might have been settled over the company's offer.

reference talk."

But he leaves no doubt that he would approve of the total shutdown—and his opinion is being alone about it in his family as far as the few union members are concerned.

You figure out a way to bargain without hurting the other workers who are not involved," he says. "There's always a way." He says there are hundreds of thousands of people who are on your side out of work. That is what they have

COMPLICATED PLAY VS. EASY-WAY

Here is a really controversial hand from the International team trials. Every West played one of one club. North would succeed if West had started with either three hearts or four hearts to the king.

The complicated play would be to try to ruff out the king of hearts by playing the ace variably overcalled with one heart; South tried one spade.

West rebid two clubs. North passed to two spades and neither or not East bid three clubs.

Mathematically the plays are equal. In practice the simple play worked. The complicated play failed when it turned out that West had those four hearts headed by the king.

She can be contacted at the Antique Festival public relations office, 134 1/2 Broadway Ave. S. in Buhl or phone 543-5207.

A special audition for children's roles in this play will be held sometime in the late spring.

League Has Panel on Human Resources

Federal programs dealing with educational, vocational and economic assistance for the underprivileged as they pertain to Idaho were analyzed at a public meeting sponsored by the League of Women Voters of Twin Falls Thursday night at the Idaho Power Auditorium.

Appearing on a panel were C. A. Chartrand, Boise, Manpower Development Training Act coordinator for the Idaho Department of Employment; Arvel Stafford, Boise, Idaho director of the Office of Economic Opportunity; both Boise; Richard Barnes, counselor-at-large, Mountain Home Job Corps Center; and J. T. Anderson, Twin Falls School District business coordinator.

There currently are 11 programs under way in Idaho under the Manpower Development Training Act, involving 270 trainees, Chartrand said. Purpose of the MDTA is to prepare the individual to be able to hold a job and about 75 per cent of the trainees have found employment. Idaho is about 10 per cent higher than the national average in its placement program, he said.

Stafford noted that one-third of the American population is deprived both educationally and economically and in Idaho he has found one-fifth of the population has incomes of less than $3,000, 22 per cent of the students drop out of school and 5 per cent of the heads of households are unemployed.

While he was at first skeptical of the need for "more federal programs," Stafford said, after accepting the job as head of the OEC at the request of Gov. Smylie, he now is convinced these programs offer the "only chance" to many youths.

The official outlined some of the major provisions under the OEC, noting the ones now in operation in Idaho. There are four job corps camps in Idaho with almost 800 enrollees, many of them third and fourth generation of welfare parents, with education equivalent of fourth to seventh grade.

Stafford stressed the philosophy of the OEC program is to generate the self-help approach and stimulate local action, so that the individual community projects will be geared to meet the needs of that area.

He said 559 Idaho youngsters participated in the "Headstart" classes for pre-school children last year. It was found half of them needed dental care.

Stafford stressed that while duplication exists, he feels overlapping is being eliminated and progress made among state administrators to cooperate for the most efficient of all programs.

"These programs provide our greatest challenge against ignorance, poverty, prejudice and disease," he declared. Some of the human aspects of life as a counselor in the Job Corps camp at Mountain Home were given by Barnes, who related humorous and pathetic incidents he has encountered in dealing with boys handicapped in some cases, by inability to read or write at all.

"When they go to bed at night, it looks like the United Nations," he declared. "We have Chinese, Negro, Indian — you name it, we have them."

AMONG THE FASHIONS designed by Bill Blass and previewed in New York is a brown and white zebra print dress with jacket to match. ### Fickleness of Women's Fashions Proves True for Spring, Summer

By NORMA HERZINGER

The fickleness of women's fashions has been proven again, according to fashion writers as they report their findings during the spring preview showings of the American Designers of New York.

If their reports were compiled and two major contributions to the fashion trend listed, undoubtedly they would be the large floral patterns in all ensembles and the shorter, shorter skirts.

One of the fashion writers was quoted as saying, "Both hemlines and necklines expose more of the body beautiful in new spring fashions than ever before. The bare trend was a major factor to emerge during the first few days of the fashion marathon."

In our community, the drastically high hemlines have not taken a real foothold. In talking with employees of several women's wear businesses in Twin Falls, all agree that the truly fashion-conscious woman and the woman interested in looking her best will never wear skirts that are short enough to be unbecoming.

Calendar Says Winter, N.Y. Designers in Height of Spring

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) — It's the heart of winter as the calendar goes, but it's the height of springtime in bloom with New York's manufacturers of women's ready-to-wear.

From a look through the new collections, it would seem the designers all had just returned from the florist's shop, feasted through the new seed catalogs, or were remembering the flower gardens they cultivated last summer.

Size of the floral patterns is bigger than ever—you'll see very little of this dainty print-stuff, except for prints taking their cue from the grainy dresses the very young have adopted.

Big and splashy was the rule, as members of the New York Couture Group of manufacturers showed their wares to fashion reporters from newspapers, radio and television in this, the group's 46th "National Press Week." The shows suits, coats, costumes, styles and makeup.

The prints began with and went on through the into the dressiest of even. Typical of the trend: B high cocktail dress in combination of reds, b oranges in a dress with jeweled neckline, an obi the waist, and the sheath draped panel.

Or take the collection Savini, who used fabrics printed in assorted big gazans and chiflons.

Mingling with the florals—some of them, side, as in designer Nor contrast of black and w after dress, with long c with narrow, flat-pleated.

"GLITTER LOOK" in evening wear is shown by model Roalfe Calvert in this Don Laper's sequined evening coat over black satin, a narrow line ball gown. It was shown to the nation's fashion editors as part of the spring and resort lines on display at the California fashions press week. (AP wirephoto)

"EN GARDE" is the fencer's costume by Towale for spring, 1966. The flowered silk enhanced with a shocking pink silk linen jacket over a khaki linen shirt. There's a flower print scarf to tuck in the neck when it's on. (N.Y. Couture Group)

Fickleness of Women's Styles Proves True

William Sellers and employees of Carroll's Inc. believe that the fashions that go to three and four inches above the knee are show-room publicity only and will never be seen on the fashion-conscious woman. "Women interested in real fashion and fine fashions will keep hemlines at reasonable lengths," Sellers stated. Top colors for the forthcoming season as seen by Sellers are yellow at the top of the trim, new corals and pinks. He stated that better merchandise for women of our community will satisfy any woman's desire to remain in fashionable attire.

Earl Faulkner of the "Paris Car" stated that the wash and wear articles, those requiring the least care, will be excellent this spring. Chocovette is Faulkner's number one synthetic fabric for spring, being very light weight and easy care. Swim suits, according to Faulkner, will be more bare this season, the tight stretch pants or the stove pipe pants will continue their popularity and sweaters will be shown of washable nylon and dacron.

Mrs. Russell (Joyce) Wells and employees of the Mayfair will introduce a new easy care fabric called koratex, which is completely washable and can be dried in a dryer. Mrs. Wells stated that a big splash of color will be seen this spring, along with safari prints, tapestry and heavy textures in most lines of women's wear. Shifts are still the forerunners in women's fashion, mostly on the "slimline" lines, some with ruffles. Mrs. Wells believes this will be a season for color with various combinations, including shades of yellow, pinks, oranges and lime green.

With spring just around the corner and the promise of exciting new fashions, the season is anticipated with enthusiasm. If the well dressed woman "thinks fashion" the results will be most rewarding.

Trains Shows New Collection

NEW YORK (AP) — Teal Trains, the designer who thinks "a dress isn't supposed to do anything for a woman," shows dresses that do plenty in his new collection.

He introduced his spring and summer wardrobes to the New York couture group Wednesday, pointing out that as a man he "looks what's inside the dress first."

"Most women left themselves dominated by clothes," says Trains. "What woman wants to be upstaged by a piece of cloth?"

"When the dress dominates a woman, the dress isn't very good."

Most women, he says, disagree with him.

His favorite looks are "young, easy, cardigan, and casual." Illustrating what he calls a "soft touch," Trains put motion into skirts by using bias flares, tiny rib pleats and soft a-lines. Necklines were barely gathered, rolled, cowed and rounded.

Trains' favorite evening gown is called an evening pinfore. Ruffled to an empire waist in front, it dips low in back leaving only a halter to keep the dress intact.

AVOID TOO MUCH SUN. NEW YORK — Dermatologists urge less exposure to the sun. Those taking winter vacations in the South or Southwest or going skiing should take heed. Select tanning lotions with special sun-screening ingredients. These cut down on excessive tanning or burn and help check the aging threat of sun-dried skin.

An August wedding is planned.

Frances Brown; Kohtz Recite Nuptial Vows

The Emanuel Lutheran Church, Eden, was the setting Dec. 31 for the ceremony uniting in marriage, Frances L. Brown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold A. Brown, and Delbert Kohtz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Kohtz, Eden.

Rev. R. Langebecker performed the double ring ceremony before an altar flanked by baskets of white-chrysanthemums, holly and red-gladioli with red satin bows. Candelabra with white and red lighted Christmas tree accented the altar.

Escorted by her father, the bride wore a steel-length gown of white satin enhanced with an overskirt and a jacket of white lace. The gown was made by Mrs. John Hill. Her elbow-length veil of illusion was held by a tiara of seed pearls and sequins. She carried a bouquet of two white Callaya orchids on a white Bible accented with satin streamers. Mrs. Larry Pettigling, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Evan Kohtz, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Ushers included Charles Brown and Jerry Brown, brothers of the bride.

Traditional wedding music was played by Mrs. E. Hagen, who also accompanied her daughter, Judy, soloist.

A reception was held at the Twin Falls Immanuel Lutheran Church following the ceremony. The bride's table was covered with white nylon enhanced with a bouffant skirt which was accented with holly and other Christmas greenery. The table was centered with a three-tiered wedding cake decorated with red roses and white sugar bells. The cake was topped with two large bells and a miniature bride and bridegroom. The table was flanked by heavy baskets filled with flowers.

The bride's table was attended by Mrs. Keith Brown, Mrs. Gordon Brown, Mrs. T. Bertha, cousin of the bride, and Mrs. K. Wickham. Mrs. Chris Hahn was in charge of the guest book. Gifts were displayed by Lynn Borchert, Shirleen Brown, Karen Groves, Glenda Wickham and Sandra Engle.

The couple will reside in Minneapolis, Minn., where the bridegroom is enrolled at the university as a sophomore majoring in aeronautical engineering.

(12) Deductible Taxes Taxes to Be Deducted When Filing Explained

By RAY DE CRANE
NEA Special Writer

Internal Revenue Service scored a major breakthrough this year in simplifying one aspect of the 1040 Form. The instruction manual mailed out with the tax forms to every person who filed a tax return last year printed the sales tax allowance chart for his state and a list of the gasoline taxes in the states.

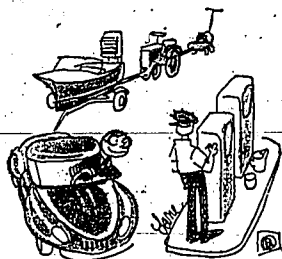

The sales tax chart for your state is based upon adjusted gross income. That is the figure you will enter on Line 8, Page 1 of Form 1040. Your total income and the number in your family will determine your allowance.

Again this year IRS will permit taxpayers to add to the allowance on their state chart the exact amount of deductible sales tax paid on the purchase of an automobile in 1965.

What if you can prove you paid more sales taxes than the chart provides for you? By all means take the full deduction you can support. But the burden of proof is on you if you elect not to use the chart allowance.

Perhaps the major tax deduction available to homeowners is the tax on their real estate. Real estate taxes are deductible in the year paid.

If your monthly mortgage payment includes a portion of your real estate taxes in addition to principal and interest payments the amount of your real estate tax deduction is not necessarily the total of the withheld tax amounts from January through December, 1965.

This tax payment went into a reserve account at your bank to insure the funds would be available when the taxes become due.

Most banks and savings and loan associations send you a receipt when your taxes are paid or show a notation on your monthly slip. These actual payments are the amount on your deduct for taxes on your Form 1040.

The personal property tax levied by many states on your investments is also fully deductible on your return if you are itemizing deductions.

These are among the taxes NOT DEDUCTIBLE:

State income tax, driver's license, cigarette tax, liquor tax, federal income tax, Social Security, federal estate and gift taxes, dog tags, hunting license and marriage license.

(NEXT: Interest Deductions.)

Dog Licenses Are Due at Hagerman

At the office of the village clerk, C. P. Russell acted as chairman in the absence of Mayor Ralph Miller at a board meeting this week. The telephone company soon will put numbers on each house in Hagerman, and the village sprayed females, and $5 for females. These fees may be paid the street.

Remodeling Of School Is Reported

JEROME — Progress on the remodeling at the Junior High School was reported by William Lipscomb, superintendent, at the Jerome School District No. 281 board of trustees meeting Monday.

He said the science rooms are ready for use except for furniture which is expected to arrive within the next 10 days so laboratory classes may be started by the second semester.

It is hoped the new addition will be roofed by the end of the month, permitting continuation of work through the rest of the winter.

Contracts will be offered to all five principals in the district and trustees approved a new package plan of insurance coverage for the district which, it is reported, will effect better coverage at considerable savings.

Members approved the attendance of both the Junior High School and high school principals at a state-wide meeting of secondary school principals to be held in Boise.

One elementary school principal will be allowed to attend a meeting of the National Association of Elementary School Principals to be held in Portland in late March.

A change was approved for one of the school buses serving the Falls City area so that children being picked up on Highway 25 need not cross the highway. This will provide greater safety for the children, it was noted.

Payment was approved to Robert Myers for a title to land adjacent to the Jefferson school property upon which a portion of one of the school buildings stands.

Lipscomb asked trustees to reschedule night-time activities which the school sponsors. The matter was held under advisement and will be discussed further at a special meeting on general policy revision scheduled for later this month.

Heyburn to Erect Stop Signs at Rail Crossings

HEYBURN—Definite action to promote safety at the four Heyburn railroad crossings was taken Wednesday evening by the village board.

It was decided that stop signs be erected at all crossings and that a 20-mile speed limit restriction for trucks be set.

Board members discussed other feasible means of traffic control and decided that stop signs would be more effective for motorists than would flashing red lights.

Ross Corless, former board chairman, reported on a special meeting held Tuesday with officials of the Union Pacific Railroad Co. They said their three recent fatalities resulting from car-train accidents have occurred at crossings controlled by the flashing signals.

It would cost the village $40,000 to erect flashing signals at the four crossings. The railroad company would pay 10 per cent of this cost and maintain them. County officials agreed that the area would be better protected if "obvious" stop signs were erected and that the village could save money by issuing fines to all violators.

Residents have been concerned about the dangerous crossings for several years and often expressed fear of the conditions until after the death of Mrs. Nadine Banner Dec. 17 at the J Street crossing.

The car she was driving slid on the ice-covered highway and came to a stop directly in the path of an oncoming train. Several residents joined forces the next day and applied a sand coating on the area and appealed to village trustees to work out something with the railroad company.

The railroad track is laid in an angle, making motorists look back over their shoulder for approaching trains. At the J Street and G Street crossings, the streets run north and south, and at 18th Street and 21st Street (off Alfreco Road) they run east and west.

According to the Minidoka County sheriff's office there were three car-train accidents with one fatality in 1963 and two accidents with two fatalities in 1964.

Killed in 1964 were Mrs. Merle Day, Burley, and her son. In May, 1965, Rudy Schaeffer, Paul, miraculously survived a train-truck accident by the Heyburn Bridge.

There was a small space left in the demolished cab which wasn't crushed together and this was where the slightly injured Schaeffer was pulled from by train crewmen.

The Heyburn Chamber of Commerce had discussed the type of warning procedure just two days before the Banner accident.

It was brought to the attention of railroad officials that

More Babies

RUPERT—More babies, 22, were born in Minidoka County during August in any other month in 1965. Mary Ellen Carlson, public health nurse for Minidoka County reports, 10 were 1 month, was January with six births.

There were 15 deaths recorded in the county during December, with only four in the month of September.

WYOMING IS UPSET WINNER OVER BYU
 LARAMIE, Wyo. (AP) — Wyoming shook off an early deficit and finished strong in defeating Brigham Young 107-101 Saturday night for the Cowboys' first Western Athletic Conference basketball victory.

Brigham Young, trying to recoup after a Thursday loss to New Mexico, jumped off to a 15-7 lead before Wyoming tied it up at 31-31 on a hook shot by Leon Clark. Brigham Young is ranked No. 7.

Then the Cowboys began to build a lead of their own with Mike Eberle making 10-of-14 on a jump shot at 33-33. Brigham Young narrowed this at the half but could never get back control.

Clark was the leading scorer for Wyoming with 28 points.

Black Guns Valley Past Bulldogs

KIMBERLY — Ted Black blew through 17 points in the last quarter, the last one coming with six seconds left as the old Valley Vikings came from behind to post an 80-79 upset defeat over Kimberly Saturday night.

Black, who hit 32 points for the night, was redhot in shooting out of the corner and it was his heroics that let the Vikings erase a 10-point Kimberly lead in the last two minutes to cap the second half although Valley held a 35-34 intermission edge.

Kimberly blazed for 27 points in the third quarter and built up a 61-50 margin. Then they got fouled out but the Bulldogs still stayed ahead until the final two minutes.

Valley roared into a 78-78 tie with 19 seconds to go when Kimberly's Morrell sank a free throw. Valley hustled down the floor and fed the ball to Black, standing in the corner. He turned and plunked it through to cap a 30-point period.

Kimberly won the opener 65-58.

Insurance Program Is Explained

HAGERMAN — Fred Locke, Gooding insurance agent, explained the present insurance program at the monthly meeting of the Hagerman school trustees Monday.

Fire insurance protection was asked for the newly completed football field bleachers.

The chemistry class was given permission to make a field trip to the Amalgamated Sugar plant in Twin Falls, Jan. 18.

Trustees made tentative plans to visit the high school and grade school buildings at Carey Feb. 5, to inspect the new plant there and the electric heating in the buildings.

It was reported senior class activity on the bleacher project included $270 sales in reserve seats and $75 worth of seats have been spoken for, and may be paid for with any class member.

Driver training was approved for another year and classes will start about Feb. 1, with two sessions being held this year.

As there are 38 students' desiring driver training education, two classes of 19 each will be held. The first, starting in February, will be held after school and on Saturdays. As soon as this session is completed, about mid-April, a second class will start and run into the summer months.

The board members changed the policy of student participation in extra-curricular activities regarding grades. In the past, a student had to be passing in four solid subjects each semester. The new policy change accepts this past ruling and adds that they must be passing in three solid each semester.

Another change in policy was made regarding semester testing. In the past if grades were up to a set standard, the student was not required to take semester tests. However, the board members feel that testing is necessary for students and so each student must take at least two tests a semester, regardless of his grade average.

Supt. George Carnie was asked by trustees to contact the telephone company and request a pay phone be installed for the public outside of the school building. This would enable students to call their parents when getting home late to the school bus from out-of-town trips.

The next trustees meeting will be Feb. 14.

Grange Hears About Water At Hollister

HOLLISTER — Current water problems were discussed at the Hollister Grange meeting Wednesday night.

Glenn Nelson, agriculture chairman, gave the report on the Salmon Canal board of directors meeting held recently, and Salmon Tract water problems were discussed at length.

Lyle Schnitzer, Grange master, reported on the Twin Falls County Pomona meeting he attended last week, and explained problems presented at that meeting.

Mrs. Lyle Schnitzer, home economics chairman, said she had received the National Grange sewing contest rules. All entries are to be in and judging will be May 1. Each subordinate granger has a quota of six garments to be eligible for the contest this year.

Mrs. Schnitzer also asked the Grange for donations to the CARE Project and to the National Grange Retirement Fund in Washington, D.C. Members voted to give $13 to the CARE project and $5 to the National Grange fund.

The lecturer's program was given by the men with contests between the women and men. The men proved smarter. David Chadwick spoke on democracy. An article was read by Schnitzer on the miracle of modern farming and the tremendous advancements which have taken place in the last few decades.

Sherie Nelson thanked Grange members for the card sent her after her recent surgery.

Refreshments were served by Mr. and Mrs. Homer Roberts, who will present the program at the next regular meeting.

Hosts for Jan. 26 meeting will be Mr. and Mrs. Chadwick.

CSI Takes Part In Programs to Aid Needy Students

The College of Southern Idaho is participating in two programs providing financial aid to needy students, Dr. Donald Keith, CSI dean, announced Thursday.

A total of $24,450 has been earmarked for student aid during the 1965-66 academic year, according to Dr. Keith, which is still available to eligible students.

Of this year total, $16,450 is earmarked for the College Work Study Program and $18,000 is available for National Defense Student Loans.

Under the work study program, students in need of financial assistance are provided an opportunity to work part-time while continuing full-time study. Present job opportunities include grounds and building maintenance, laboratory, library and clerical assistance.

Wages range from $1.25 to $1.75 per hour. Students may work a maximum of 10 hours during any week class session and 40 hours per semester.

National Defense Student Loans are authorized by the National Defense Education Act of 1958. The payment period of the principal and of three per cent interest begins one year after the borrower ceases to be a student.

Repayments of loans may be made annually for as much as 10 years after the borrower ceases to be a student.

Part of the loan payments may be canceled if the borrower becomes a full-time teacher. Cancellation is at a rate of 10 per cent for each year of teaching, up to a maximum of 50 per cent.

In order to qualify for either the work study program or the National Defense Student Loans, an applicant must be a citizen of the U.S. or intend to reside permanently in the U.S., must be enrolled or accepted by a college for enrollment as a full-time or part-time student carrying at least one-half the normal academic workload, must be capable of acquiring good college achievement and must be in financial need of a loan or work to pursue a college education.

In addition, for the work study aid, a student must be from a low-income family, or have no family, and be a full-time student.

Applications for student loans or work study employment or both should be made through the CSI business office, where application forms are available.

The college is directed to consider any income, assets and resources available to the student, income, assets and resources of the student's family, and the cost reasonably necessary to attend the college.

Married students must provide information, but that of the spouse and the spouse's parents, as required by law.

According to Dr. Keith, applications for both programs are substantially more than during the first semester. He noted requirements have been relaxed somewhat in the awards of loans and work study aid.

Additional aid provided under the education legislation passed during 1963 will not be effective until the fall 1966 semester, he noted.

National Defense Student Loans are authorized by the National Defense Education Act of 1958. The payment period of the principal and of three per cent interest begins one year after the borrower ceases to be a student.

Repayments of loans may be made annually for as much as 10 years after the borrower ceases to be a student.

Part of the loan payments may be canceled if the borrower becomes a full-time teacher. Cancellation is at a rate of 10 per cent for each year of teaching, up to a maximum of 50 per cent.

In order to qualify for either the work study program or the National Defense Student Loans, an applicant must be a citizen of the U.S. or intend to reside permanently in the U.S., must be enrolled or accepted by a college for enrollment as a full-time or part-time student carrying at least one-half the normal academic workload, must be capable of acquiring good college achievement and must be in financial need of a loan or work to pursue a college education.

In addition, for the work study aid, a student must be from a low-income family, or have no family, and be a full-time student.

Applications for student loans or work study employment or both should be made through the CSI business office, where application forms are available.

The college is directed to consider any income, assets and resources available to the student, income, assets and resources of the student's family, and the cost reasonably necessary to attend the college.

Married students must provide information, but that of the spouse and the spouse's parents, as required by law.

According to Dr. Keith, applications for both programs are substantially more than during the first semester. He noted requirements have been relaxed somewhat in the awards of loans and work study aid.

Additional aid provided under the education legislation passed during 1963 will not be effective until the fall 1966 semester, he noted.

TWIN FALLS, IDAHO, SUNDAY, JANUARY 16, 1966

WITH NEARLY HALF the Magic Valley citizens over 65 residing in Twin Falls county, hospitals and nursing homes here will take the brunt of the expected patient increase because of Medicare. Harold A. Drake, administrator for the Hazel Del and Sky View Manor nursing homes, chats with one of the patients. This nursing setup is the largest in the valley and present plans call for availability of 19 more beds by next week and 24 more in a new addition to be constructed this year. Although the Medicare program will affect hospitals starting July 1, it will not include nursing homes until Jan. 1, 1967. Signup for Medicare in Magic Valley has been heavy. (Times-News photo)

T.F. Jaycees About 33 Years Old, One of Most Active Local Groups

The Twin Falls Junior Chamber of Commerce has been organized for 33 years. Or is it 34 years? Members aren't really certain.

About 1932, a group of local young businessmen became concerned with the future prospects of the city of Twin Falls, and with various aspects of future growth and development. This group formed some type of "mugshot" club, but were interested in aspects of the future other than just the momentary distraction and entertainment.

One member of this group envisioned establishing a swimming pool in the city of Twin Falls as there was no particular means, at that time, for summer relaxation for the young people of the community.

The group purchased a plot of about 2.3 acres in Rock Creek Canyon for the purpose of establishing a park with a swimming pool.

By this time, this group had heard of a nationwide organization by the name of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, which emphasized personal and individual development and leadership training through community service.

Due to the location of the development, still with the hope of establishing a swimming pool in this city.

There was a second location on the east side of town, which would be desirable for a swimming pool, and so the group undertook to establish that pool.

About this time, the group became affiliated with the United States Junior Chamber of Commerce, with R. S. Tolmie, Claude Detweiler, R. E. Hood, A. S. Blockwitz, John W. Soden and F. L. Cook, as the first board of directors.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce was dedicated to the belief that faith in God gives meaning and purpose to human life; that the brotherhood of man transcends the sovereignty of nations; that economic justice can best be won by free men through free enterprise; that governments should be of laws rather than of men; that earth's great treasure lies in human personality, and that service to humanity is the best work of life.

Originally formed in October, 1932, at St. Louis, Mo., the Junior Chamber of Commerce idea had grown to the extent there were about five local organizations in the state, of Idaho in 1933 when the Idaho State Junior Chamber of Commerce was formed, with John B. Robertson, Twin Falls, as the first state president.

The Twin Falls Junior Chamber of Commerce continued the work on the swimming pool, in 1934-35, by excavating an area in what is now Harmon Park, physically collecting lava rock from the desert to line the pool, and then covering that lining with concrete.

The Jaycees were then interested in further development and establishing of recreational facilities for this city, so they undertook the purchase of 24 acres of land immediately adjacent to the just completed swimming pool.

Funds for this purchase were raised in diverse ways such as a chain letter which did provide the necessary funds, as well as traveling into all 41 states and several foreign countries.

Purchase of this property was made in 1937 and the landscaping was done in 1938, as well as starting the construction of the present ball park.

In 1939 the ball park finally was paid for and Jaycees Park was dedicated to the city. Added later were lights for the ball diamond and the cement circle for the use of model builders for racing their model autos and model planes.

More curbs and gutters were installed on the streets of Twin Falls in 1940 to further assist with the beautification of Twin Falls, as well as improve properties and streets.

In 1942 the Jaycees instigated the USO shows, helped promote bond drives, and contributed much time and labor to further the war effort.

It was during this time that the first community service awards were given. This was made an annual event and has been sponsored every year since.

During 1943 the Jaycees worked on the construction of the concrete tennis courts on Shoop Street, as well as the organization of the youth council, con-

All-Inclusive Medicare Gain Approval of Valle

By O. A. (Gus) KELKER, Times-News Feature Editor
It is without doubt one of the biggest, most far-reaching and most all inclusive programs ever instigated by government. It is called Medicare—health insurance for the aged.
It will start big on July 1 of this year and there is every indication it will grow as time goes on. It has been cussed and discussed since it was first advocated. Other programs before Medicare have been met with the same mixed emotions and yet, today, they are a part of the American way of life.
Those who back the government's health insurance for the aged program believe it, too, will be accepted and will become a part of everyday life.

In the Magic Valley it will be a big deal. The anticipated Twin Falls county where the Medicare program will be most felt after it gets into high gear. Reason for this is clear. Of all people over 65 years of age—the minimum age for Medicare participation—47.7 per cent of them live in this county. Living there, they will want to avail themselves of the local hospital, the local nursing homes and the local doctors when they have need for the program.
Nationally, social security officials forecast a 15 per cent rise in patient load as a direct result of the program. The patient load in Twin Falls county could even go above that.
Officials at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital say that "except for peak periods of occupancy, the anticipated load increase (15 per cent) could be absorbed." Spokesmen for the local Medical Association say doctors will operate with the program. Officials of the local Medical Association make the same declaration. (Continued From Page 21)

In 1933 the Jaycees initiated and financed a twice weekly bus service to the Magic Mountain Ski area, for transportation of the snow bunnies and other "snow bugs," as well as completing the regular yearly projects of the previous administrations.

In 1945, the Jaycees started a youth center in Twin Falls with the Jaycees themselves taking turn working shifts as supervisors at the center, which had facilities for dancing, a snack bar, and various game rooms, under the administration of Verle Moser.

In 1946 there was further development and operation of the youth center, with the usual operations of "Egg-hunt" and the School Patrol Association day.

In 1948 they undertook to raise funds for additional development and operation of the youth center; arranged for the construction of a dwelling—one of the Presidential sites, and then raffled off that house.

This year also saw the major start of the Christmas activities with the idea of providing food baskets for needy families.

The Jaycees also attempted to sponsor an air show, but it seems that most of the spectators parked along the highway around the airport until the roadway was blocked.

The air show had been undertaken on a percentage of the gate receipts with personnel of the show operating the gate. When it came time for financial settlement, the Jaycees were paid by check, which bounced. The Jaycees-operated concession stand "saved the day."

In 1949 the Twin Falls Jaycees sponsored the "Keep Idaho Green" poster board sign campaign, and assisted in the painting of signs on main-highways as well as sponsoring a fishing derby for youths and the Gale Paige concert.

Arrangements were made with the city council for high school students to operate city officers for a day as a part of a good-government project.

An incubator was purchased and presented to the Twin Falls County Hospital. As a result of the activities of this year, the Twin Falls Jaycees won first place at the state convention in the field of youth activity and trade promotion.

The Jaycees then undertook a vigorous campaign for a city manager form of government.

In 1951 the Jaycees initiated and financed a twice weekly bus service to the Magic Mountain Ski area, for transportation of the snow bunnies and other "snow bugs," as well as completing the regular yearly projects of the previous administrations.

In 1952-53 the Jaycees sponsored 12 hot rod races, a horse show, a horse sale and a model plane show. They even found time for showing the school-boys their appreciation for a job well done, by taking 450 such patrols for a lunch and a movie.

For relaxation, they sponsored the Idaho State Jaycee Junior Golf Tournament and assisted with sending live contestants to the national tournament at Eugene, Ore.

Two first-drive-in mail boxes were built for the Jaycees and installed at the post office in 1954. The Twin Falls Jaycees performed a total of about 40 major projects that year, including the Courtesy Driver Award program.

During the Junior golf tournament in 1955, there was one contestant by the name of "Babe" Hickey who went on to become a well-known professional golfer.

Still, this close brush with fame did not prevent the Twin Falls Jaycees from the physical labor involved (along with about $2,000) in building a log structure for the Girl Scout camp in the South Hills; nor the operation of the concession stand at Frontier Field, or making up and passing out Christmas baskets.

The years 1955-56 witnessed more than 30 major projects benefiting all age groups, with the annual Easter Egg hunt for more than 1,200 children, belts and caps for the safety patrol, Idaho Open Golf Tournament, construction of cabins in the South Hills for the Camp Fire Girls and over 200 Christmas baskets of food for needy families.

Other civic-minded projects were financing the Harry Barry County Hospital. As a result of the activities of this year, the Twin Falls Jaycees won first place at the state convention in the field of youth activity and trade promotion.

The Jaycees then undertook a vigorous campaign for a city manager form of government.

In Twin Falls, with Paul Harvey as principal speaker, and the local chairman again received an expense-paid trip to Washington D. C.

However, the weather had played hob with the attendance to Paul Harvey's speech and so the year was financially in the "red," even though it was a tremendous success publicly.

In January, 1955, the Twin Falls Jaycees started the program of presenting an award to the outstanding young farmer of the area, as well as the distinguished service awards and the best of the year award. The winner of the outstanding young farmer award, Lawrence Kollig, also was the winner of the state award and competed in the national contest.

The nation's food bill for 1955 is expected to be $58 billion and run even higher in 1956, according to Finance Facts, publication of the National Consumer Finance Association.

Cling Agriculture Department estimates; the publication says this works out to $439 for each man, woman and child in the country.

MAGIC VALLEY PORTRAIT . . .

Assistant Fire Chief's Name Causes Confusion During His Entire Life

Summed? If you are, just remember that it is not pronounced Bopp as in hop but rather Bopp as in hope. Bobby K. Bopp is one fellow who has withstood a lot of trouble so far as his name is concerned. First, everyone wants to call him the more formal "Robert," but his first name is really Bobby.

Then there is the pronunciation of the last name. The first paragraph in this story should clear that up.

He has quit bothering me years ago," Bopp smiles, guessing that is the way my parents wanted it, so it doesn't really bother me."

He was number three in a family of nine children. With the exception of Bobby and a brother called Freddy, all the names were more or less the usual ones.

There was Donald, Eugene and James, among the other boys, and Marjorie, Mildred, Lucille and Sandra among the girls.

"Neither our dad never did tell us, as I recall, why my brother and I ended up with the sawed off names," he said.

Life was born in Bliss on Feb. 18, 1923. His father was a rancher. To save money by not having to pay a tuition fee at the Bliss school, he joined other youngsters who daily crossed the Snake River, drove nearly to Thousand Springs to a one-room school, and then back home that evening.

The school, now torn down, was on what was later known as the Champlin property.

Later the family moved into Hagerman and Bopp attended school there through the seventh grade.

Then they moved to the com-

At Coventry his unit was assigned to build temporary camps for invasion units. Transferred to the Tullahoma, Tenn. area, he was assigned to the 37th Engineer Regiment.

In the fall of 1943 he was shipped to Massachusetts and assigned to a week was "loaded" onto a train and journeyed to Nova Scotia.

"It was just a few days we were loaded onto another train and we all laughed because we thought it was a day-run. Well, we were so wrong."

"That train stopped on a dock and we had to walk only 300 feet before we were on the ship. We were walking up to board a ship. It was the Maratons of the Canadian Line. There were 8,500 of us on board and we were bound for England," he said.

Landmark

SAUNDERSTOWN, R. I. (UPI)—The birthplace of painter Gilbert Stuart here has been nominated as a national historical landmark by Interior Secretary Stewart Udall. Stuart, who painted the famous portrait of George Washington, lived in the home between 1755 and 1781. His father operated a nearby snuff mill.

He had served in the army during the history of the state, near Banks.

After the CCC stint, he returned home and enrolled in a NRA welding course which led to a job in the shipyards at Portland.

were going, but we soon found out," he said. "Our destination was Omaha Beach."

First mission was to restore the port of Bremer, but officials finally decided the damage was too great and so they were sent to Liffarve, where they spent months rebuilding docks, roads, bridges and bridges and this finally became a heavy allied supply port.

He also participated in the mine clearing operation both on water and land.

"This was one job I never liked or got used to," Bopp said. Sent to Germany, his mission was to build stockades which were used to hold German prisoners.

Records show Bopp started out as a private and ended up as a sergeant. He participated in three campaigns: Northern France, the Rhineland and Central Europe. He also received the meritorious service award for the Liffarve reconstruction work.

His unit shipped out of Germany on July 1, 1945, and arrived in Liffarve on July 10. It was given a 30-day delay in route to return home. They would then go to the Pacific.

But during that "at home" time the big bomb was dropped on Japan and World War II was at an end. He was discharged in November, 1945.

Back in Twin Falls, he stayed with members of his family who resided in an apartment above Kregel's store. One day he saw two firemen standing beside the nearby station and, recognizing one, he went outside to talk to them.

One thing led to another and he decided to apply for a job as fireman on a "temporary basis."

That temporary job will be 20 years old next Feb. 10 and Bopp is now assistant chief of the department, having held every position on the force with the exception of fire inspector.

Bopp always has been active in community and church work. He has held various lay positions in the Immanuel Lutheran church here and in 1964 was president of the congregation.

He has served as a board member of the Twin Falls Kiwanis club and is, at present, active on the youth service committee of that organization.

He has been very active in Boy Scout work and in the fall of 1965 was advanced to the executive board of the Snake River Area Council.

He serves as leadership training chairman. He has received the LAMB award of his church for work in youth. One of his two sons is an Eagle Scout.

He was scoutmaster of troop 58 for two years and took a troop to Valley Forge for the National Jamboree in 1961.

In 1965 he attended a special Scout leader's intensified leadership course at Coeur d'Alene and he has also attended the training Philmont Scout Ranch course in New Mexico.

He and members of his family like outdoor activities of any nature.

He was married on Feb. 16, 1947, to Mrs. Esther, and two sons, Robert, 14, and Ronald, 2, reside at 1855 Shoup Avenue East.

They reside in a home which he constructed himself, taking two years to build.

The Money Box

BY FRANK SCHELL

HEAD OF YOUNG Elizabeth II appears on this coin. The age is changed to suit the ruler.

HEAD OF OLD Elizabeth II is on this coin. The likeness is representative of the Queen including the regal crown.

We will start the column this week with a definition of coin terms. The word "rare" is most frequently used in describing scarcer coins, and a great many collectors consider them as owners of rare coins.

Namismatics defines the word "rare" as meaning that there are only a few of the specified coin in existence — specifically seven to 10 specimens. When there is only one known specimen of a coin, it is termed "unique." Other coins are called "scarce" if it is in that category. "Rare" is an overworked word, and should not be used in conjunction with coins merely because they are old, or scarce.

We have had several calls concerning a recent newspaper story which mentioned a silver three piece dated 1775. You who called are correct in believing there can be no such coin. Since the United States Mint was not founded until 1793, and the first silver three piece struck in 1851, this is obviously an error of some kind.

We have a question from Mr. S. M. Twin Falls. Since we are constantly being told about the coin shortages, I am wondering why it is that our mint can't keep up with the demand.

was at the tail end of the depression, as Bopp signed on with the Civilian Conservation Corps and was sent to McCall for forest work.

Later, while at a spike camp Smith's Ferry, he helped fight the biggest forest fire in four hours a day. The machinery in our mint is hopelessly outdated, with top production being about 300 pieces of coinage per minute.

General Motors Corporation has been commissioned to work out a new press, and they have now perfected, according to their engineers, a coin press capable of making 10,000 pieces a minute. This is quite a contrast with the 300 now being produced, and will undoubtedly rapidly catch up with the demand.

Only a few years ago, demand on our mints was about a billion coins a year — but, by next summer, the demand is expected to exceed 12 billion pieces — quite a pleasant change! It remains to be seen just what will happen.

A letter from Mrs. R. L. B. Burley, asks: "I have noticed that the Canadian money is different now — that is, the head of Elizabeth has been changed. Why is this?"

Answer: The change on Canadian coins is not without precedent. During the long reign of Victoria, in England, her portrait was changed in accordance with her age, thus creating varieties termed the "young head" and the "old head."

First coins pictured Elizabeth as a young girl, now the engraver has changed her picture to that of a more mature woman, and included the regal crown. (See illustrations). All of the new Canadian issues are very beautiful examples of the engraver's art.

Early Prevention

NEW YORK (UPI)—Help your children to form good diet habits and you'll help give them heart attack insurance, says the American Heart Association.

Forming the good diet habits in childhood is one way of making certain that they will eat the anti-heart attack diet when it can make the difference between life and death. The association suggested eating less saturated fat and substitute unsaturated fat wherever possible. Also, serve fewer cholesterol-rich foods.

A game bird had spread over an area of 40 miles wide and 150 miles long.

Phoenician experience shows that only a few breeders in good habitat are enough to start a booming population. A production slow-down results when the carrying capacity of the range is reached. It's Nature's way to regulate a range with as many phoenicians as local conditions will support. Then, natural mortality limits further appreciation.

"Lahoy's experience was similar," says George Abraham, who shows that about 1,000 pheasants were liberated in different parts of the state in 1910. The first hunting season was held in 1916. By 1919, the first 30-day season was held in the counties of Gooding, Lincoln and Twin Falls.

Since there is vastly more agricultural land today than there was in 1908, when the ring-necked pheasant was introduced to Idaho, there are more of these birds now than ever. Their numbers depend simply on the amount and quality of food, cover and water that is available to support them.

Some sportsmen may dispute this, claiming that there was an extraordinary good pheasant season in the early days, but there has been a slow, steady drop in the number of ring-necks available for at least the past 20 years.

"This always is a good argument because no reliable figures covering the good old days were collected. The point cannot be proved either way. However, it is a fact that there is more well-hunted habitat now than ever before. Still other habitat probably is poorer in quality than it was in the earlier years of a quarter-century or more ago."

The ring-necked pheasant is a highly adaptable bird. It can live in its new homeland. But it cannot stand against the automobile and the ground buzzard.

Pheasant suffocation is caused by heavy winds that force birds into post-holes, tree trunks and forms an ice block. Coves of birds huddling in willows are common. At such times are covered by drifting snow during blizzards.

Food is not good to a suffocated or car-killed bird. Handouts to them along travel routes simply compounds the problem.

The pheasant range in North America is largely confined to the northern tier of states where winter is a trying time. Winter in Siberia and Mongolia, the native homeland of the ring-necked pheasant, is a trying time. A bird that is well suited to the present pheasant range in Idaho.

varieties called "Improved Pepper." It is not a pepper but a tomato. It's impossible to cross a pepper and a tomato because they have different chromosome numbers.

C. G. Maltz, "For the past three years I've been unsuccessful in raising Brussels Sprouts and broccoli. For some reason the broccoli all go into yellow flowers and the broccoli don't get any larger than a small marble. What am I doing that's wrong?"

It's likely that you're growing broccoli and Brussels Sprouts in the wrong season. For an early crop, start plants indoors and set them out when weather's warm enough. That means starting plants six weeks before the garden is warm enough to work it. The plants will produce a good size center "head" which should be cut out and eaten. The tiny buds begin to open.

It could be that you cut your crop too late. Cut them before the buds blossom. In fact, you're trying to grow too early. Set seed in the garden in May or June so the time sprouts will develop in cool fall weather. Under these conditions they'll grow considerably larger and be of better quality. Moderate freezing will not injure the sprouts and is much better than too much warmth.

QUESTION OF THE WEEK: C. G. of Twin Falls: "A friend bought some seed from a firm a short while back and the plants were a cross between a tomato and a green pepper. The plants grew like a tomato, but fruits were the shape of a tomato. I've seen a similar plant before. I've been curious to know where you get this cross. Can you help?"

It's impossible to cross a pepper and a tomato. Your friend was misinformed. I'd like to mention, however, that there are tomatoes that do have an internal look very much like a pepper, and it could be that your friend bought a tomato with a pepper-shaped-tomato when you cut across them you find they are hollow (like peppers) and the seeds are easily stirred out.

meat in just the same way a pepper is stuffed. Another tomato, I've seen a larger, flatter tomato that resembles a pepper inside. This one is actually a flat globe, good size and delectable into a delicious rounded lobes. It too can be stuffed like a pepper. Another tomato I've seen is a purple on the outside and is stuffed with attraction to the white tomato. Unfortunately, it has the taste of a tomato.

Hollywood Finds Film Star Amusing

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "It's amazing to think that one could put on glasses and an ill-fitting suit and become a star."

Michael Caine is indeed being treated like a star on his first trip to Hollywood. He has been guest of honor at glittering parties given by two studios. He has been acquiring some of the town's most noted glamor girls, from Carol Lynley to Natalie Wood. He is contrasting with Shirley MacLaine in "Gambit."

All this is entirely gratifying but not overwhelming to the chap whose father was a fish-market porter and whose mother was a London charwoman.

What made the change in his life was a sleeper called "The Ipcress File." Caine played with utter conviction the most reluctant of spies, Harry Palmer. The role was epitomized by his horn-rimmed glasses, which gave Caine a look of owlish innocence.

"The glasses were my idea," said the actor. "I knew if the character caught on, I would be closely identified with it. The glasses would give me a gimmick, a trademark. I could discard them for other roles, and not be so identified."

Harry Palmer did indeed catch on, and Caine is assigned to make three more in the series. His producer, Harry Saltzman, quickly signed Caine to a new five-year contract.

Within the space of a year, Caine had filmed "Ipcress," as well as "Alfie" for Paramount and "The Wrong Box" for Columbia. Yet he is not dazzled by his success.

"I'm 32," he said by way of explanation. "That's pretty old to make it as an actor in England."

It wasn't because he didn't try. Throughout his twenties he sought to make a living as an actor, but it was a rotten living much of the time. "Between roles he took any job he could find."

Television Shows Were Not Joys

NEW YORK (AP) — It would be a pleasure to be able to report that the weekend shows were a joy — that Sammy Davis Jr.'s premiere program was a smash, that Jackie Gleason's pocket musical was inventive and — untold — and that "The World of the Teen-Agers" illuminated a problem.

It would be a pleasure but it wouldn't be quite true.

Taking first things first, there was NBC's "Sammy Davis Jr. Show" Friday night. The producers thought of almost everything — dramatic and colorful sets, attractive musical arrangements, Sammy serving up samples of the things he does well. There was even the extraordinary sight of Elizabeth and Richard Burton singing a slightly off-key duet.

Apparently, however, they overlooked the need for word-smiths. Davis was given the dubiest sort of lines, mostly consisting of "Gee whiz, folks, I'm so excited to have my own show." Even Mrs. Burton's daring décolletage failed to divert some of us from the famine of dialogue.

Davis, the singer, dancer and impressionist, was impressive but Davis, the host, was a bore.

It was pleasant to have three of the old "Honeymooners" come back together again — on CBS Saturday night. Trixie, the fourth member, was alleged to be visiting her mother in New Jersey. But Alice, Ed Norton and Ralph Kramden were back in that basic Brooklyn flat. But once there, they couldn't seem to decide whether they were doing a comedy sketch or a musical. The songs were draped on the comedy sketch like ornaments on a Christmas tree. Thus the plot would roar along with Ralph constantly threatening to land one on Alice or Ed. Then there would be a pause and one or another would walk up to the camera and sing a little song.

The free-wheeling story about adopting a baby may bring some fiery complaints from adoption agencies and Jackie certainly overplayed his big emotional scene, weeping over the bassinet. Even so it was fun to have Art Carney, Audrey Meadows and Gleason yelling at each other. Some of the slight tunes were catchy, if hardly memorable.

According to NBC's special Sunday night, "The World of the Teen-Agers" is a prison where life is dull, adults don't understand them, and the pressures are fierce.

The documentary was made in Lexington, Mass., concentrating on a few of the community's 1,100 teen-agers, apparently the sulky-looking ones ready to complain about their restraints and disciplines.

The boredom of the young made the program a thoroughly depressing hour and one that sized little light.
